APPLICATIONS CLOSE MAY 8TH

Office Hours: A Pioneering Mentoring Initiative

Boehringer Ingelheim Office Hours offers small companies, entrepreneurs and academicians' individual attention in an 'office hours' atmosphere. Designed as a consultative 'round table' meeting, this pioneering mentoring initiative provides access to expertise, an industry perspective and feedback to early-stage life-sciences businesses. Our 'no strings attached' policy means there are no restrictions or conditions associated with Office Hours which encourages open dialog from both parties.

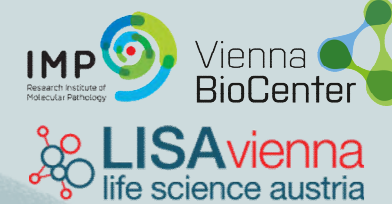

Access to Expertise:

Research & preclinical development | Biology & Chemistry | Medicine (Clinical development)
Marketing | Business development

How to Apply for Boehringer Ingelheim Office Hours

In advance of your personalized one-hour session, you are invited to submit some non-confidential background information about your technology and up to five questions regarding your programs and company. This helps us get a better understanding of your needs so we can answer your questions more effectively. Senior professionals from Boehringer Ingelheim will tailor the meeting to focus on your company's interests, and address topics such as pre-clinical and clinical development, research strategy, business development and commercial potential.
